

IMPRESSIVO® wiring accessories

Optimization of the product selection

Impressivo product range will be optimized in the fall of 2015 to be more practical. Benefits are a clearer product offering as well improved availability of the Impressivo offering. Details on the main changes can be found below.

Optimization of the switch products

Nearly all of our switches will be available in white as semi-complete (including both insert and rocker). The most popular models will also be available in bulk order packages. Bulk packages are designed to enhance the logistics as well as reduce amount of package waste at the installation site. All switches, rockers, and colors are still available as modules. Please note that aluminum and anthracite colored switches will no longer be available as semi-complete (including both insert and rocker).

Optimization of the socket outlet products

All socket outlets will come in all colors and will include both insert and center plate or cover plate. Modular socket outlets and claw versions will be retired, as the new design allows for claws to be added on-site.

Telecommunications, data, and signaling products

Tele and data products will be modular and are available in all colors.

Electronics

All common electronic products will be available in white and include both insert and center plate. All electronic inserts and center plates will be available as modules, also in anthracite and aluminium colors.

More detailed information on new product offering can be found from our web pages.
